Checklist for a Good Window & Door Company

Your success in finding a reliable, honest, and dependable window and door company will ultimately predict your happiness or disappointment in your project.

The following checklist should help eliminate most of the problem contractors and help ensure your success rate:

- Home improvement license
- Liability, auto, and workers compensation insurance
- Numerous customer references
- An established commercial place of business, preferably with a showroom
- At least 4 years in business
- Proof of financial stability
- Written warranties for product and workmanship
- Written standards for installation
- Factory trained or authorized installers
- In-house service department
- Ability to provide financing for your project

Questions to Ask Prospective Replacement Contractors

Do you have any industry credentials? If so, what are they?

Are you a licensed and insured contractor in this state?

Do you have a list of references I can contact?

How long have you been in the window replacement industry?

Do you have photos or case studies of previous work?

Do you have a showroom?

Are you a member of any professional window associations?

What brands of windows do you carry?

Why Choose Quality Window & Door?

What makes Quality Window & Door unique is our educational sales process and our non-proprietary selection of replacement windows. Many window contractors in the Baltimore-Washington-Northern Virginia area sell only their brand and employ high-pressure sales tactics. You'll never get "hard closed" at Quality Window & Door. Call our office today or schedule a visit to one of our local showrooms and you'll see why we're the "go-to guys" for many of the top builders, architects, and commercial property management companies in the area—as well as discerning homeowners!

The more you know about replacement windows, the more likely you'll be to buy them from Quality Window & Door, so call us today and tell us about your situation.
